Construction Delivery Methods

Design/Bid/Build

Under this traditional method, an architectural firm is hired and serves as the owner's agent. Although the firm may have numerous responsibilities, including the selection of consultants, its primary responsibility is to provide and oversee the design and construction documents for the project. As the design progresses, cost estimates are periodically prepared by the architectural firm and external cost estimators. Once the construction documents and specifications are completely finished, and other requirements of the owner have been met, the project is bid and subsequently awarded to the Bidder whose bid is the lowest responsive responsible bid.

Design/Propose/Build

Under this traditional method, an architectural firm is hired and serves as the owner's agent. Although the firm may have numerous responsibilities, including the selection of consultants, its primary responsibility is to provide and oversee the design and construction documents for the project. As the design progresses, cost estimates are periodically prepared by the architectural firm and external cost estimators. Once the construction documents and specifications are completely finished, and other requirements of the owner have been met, the project is solicited as a Request for Proposals and subsequently awarded to the Offeror whose proposal is most advantageous to the Board of Education.

Construction Manager at Risk

This system of delivery is similar to that of Design/Bid/Build with three key differences. First, a construction manager is hired during the preconstruction phase to manage the construction process, including the selection of subcontractors. Second, through coordination between the architect and construction manager, the design and construction phases can be overlapped thereby expediting the delivery process. Third, the construction manager, who is responsible for quality control, scheduling and the estimate of construction costs, provides a guaranteed maximum price for the project.

Design/Build

Rather than hiring an architect, under Design/Build the owner enters into a contract with a single firm with design and building capabilities or a construction entity that employs the architect as a consultant. As with the aforementioned delivery system, a guaranteed maximum price for the entire project may be provided, construction management techniques to overlap design and construction phases are utilized, and the overall project delivery is expedited.

CIP Project Phase Descriptions

Planning, Programming

The research and decision-making process that identifies the scope of work to be designed.

Design

This phase consists of the development. Detail scope, program requirements, budgets, and schedules are developed.

Construction begins once the project has been awarded to the contractor.

Close-out

The final inspection, submission of necessary documentation, acceptance, and concluding payment on a construction project, as required by the contract documents.

A project is placed on hold when the detailed scope, budget, or necessity may need to be further defined.

Deemed Unnecessary

A project within the CIP may be deemed unnecessary in situations where the project may have already been completed using other funds, the project may have been incorporated into larger construction projects, or the project may no longer be required due to current applicability
